

RESTAURANT MAN GETS SIXTY DAYS

Woman Caught Pouring Out
Evidence Must Stand
Trial Later.

Lewis Eldoris who operates a restaurant in the Bostel Building at Rivesville, has been convicted on a charge of violating the State Prohibition Law by having moonshine whiskey when his place was recently raided by Sheriff James D. Charlton. Magistrate J. L. Blocher in whose court Eldoris was tried, imposed a jail sentence of sixty days and a fine of $500 and costs.

Similar charges against Julia Wanko and William Horwitz, who were arrested in the building at the time the raid was made by the county officers, were dropped by Prosecuting Attorney Frank R. Amos. However, a similar charge has been placed against Mrs. William Horwitz, who was caught in the act of pouring out some of the moonshine whiskey when the officers entered the building. She will be tried on the charge in Magistrate Blocher's court Friday. The raid was made by the officers Sunday afternoon and took the occupants of the building by surprise as they did not expect the officers on Sunday.

FARM MEETING TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Members of the Marion County Farm Bureau will meet Thursday afternoon in the office of County Agent W. E. McComas in the basement of the courthouse to plan the work of the bureau for the coming year. The year just closing has been one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the members of the bureau. More progress has been made by the farmers of the county during the year than at any other time in the history of the county.

Now that the farmers are awake to the great possibility of the bureau they are all taking a greater interest in the work, and the meeting Thursday promises to be an enthusiastic one. In addition to planning the work for the coming year many other important things will be taken up at this meeting that will be of vital interest to the farmers of the county.

The work of Mr. McComas and Miss Agnes D. Lamont, the county home demonstration agent, has met with loyal support from the farmers, their wives and children during the year, and this cooperation is largely responsible for the success enjoyed during the year. The agricultural show held at the courthouse and the boys and girls' club work done at the I.H. camp at Jackson's Mill also helped to create a greater interest in the work.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 19.—Talk of a possible merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the Brier Hill Steel Co., two of the largest independent steel companies in the country, was revived today with the news that prominent stockholders of the two concerns had reopened negotiations.

SECOND ELECTION ON SCHOOL LEVY OKED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 19.—A second election on the school levy in districts where it was defeated at the general election is permitted under the law, Attorney General E. T. England ruled today, in a letter to George M. Ford, state superintendent of schools. The opinion answered a request by Superintendent Ford and quoted an act of the last Legislature making a special election to consider the school levy mandatory if 40 per cent of the registered voters petitioned for it. The attorney general called attention to the requirements of the school law for such an election, including publication of notice, a sitting of the county court for registration, and of the board of education as a canvassing board.
